Art Market Judge:

Lisa D. Watson is a Georgia based artist and garden designer whose environmental concerns are expressed in each project. Her artwork contains 90% reclaimed material such as paper products, metal, industrial wood, produce netting and more. She has used recycled objects as her medium for over 25 years and continually works towards a fully sustainable practice. Her solo exhibition, Avanguardia, displayed in Telfair Museum's Jepson Center and The Fine Arts Gallery at Georgia Southern University, explored the disconnect inherent in how we view the natural world from the window of a car. Using salvaged materials, Lisa seeks a balance between urbanization and conservation in the work. Award ribbons will be distributed after judging on Saturday.
