Welcome to the 20th Annual Art Market at Historic Honey Horn

Letter from Coastal Discovery Museum President,
Rex Garniewicz

Thank you for joining us for the 20th annual Art Market at Historic Honey Horn. This show is an opportunity to acquire great art and a place to celebrate our community. Please have fun, spend time with family and friends, and enjoy your time on our property. While you are here today, be sure to stop by the Discovery House to see our current art exhibition "Binya: Faces ob de Gullah Geechee."

The Coastal Discovery Museum makes a difference for our community by encouraging our visitors to take action, to become better stewards of the environment, to cherish and preserve our historical resources, and to be active in the arts. When you come to the Art Market and support our artists, you help us do all these things. We hope that you will continue to join us, our staff, and our board, in our efforts to inspire people to care for the Lowcountry.

ART MARKET JUDGE

Beegee Tolpa is an Island original, arriving just after her birth in the 1970s. She went on to Parsons School of Design in New York where she came of age, professionally, in the early era of the internet. She has worked as a designer and/or illustrator for Microsoft, Nickelodeon, The Knot, The NFL, Scholastic, The Wall Street Journal, Chronicle Books and countless magazines and other print/online publications. She was very honored to be invited to help give the Art Market a fresh look, resulting in the beautiful logo you're seeing all around the market today (and this program you're holding in your hands!). www.beegeetolpa.com
