

Coastal Discovery Museum Archaeology Camp for Kids Summer 2024 - Digging Honey Horn

August 5–9, 2024 / Rising 5th–7th graders / $425 per Camper

Come help our staff archaeologist build Honey Horn history from the ground up and develop your scientific skills along the way. This summer rising 5th-7th graders can join us in our discovery adventure for a week in the dirt. Camp participants will learn the basics of archaeology including hands on experience excavating, washing and sorting artifacts, searching through archival documents, and analyzing results. This week-long day camp will help students develop their critical thinking and creative skills while exploring the deep history of Hilton Head Island. After a week of developing their archaeological skills our campers will end with a presentation of their findings for staff, family, and friends.

Participants should be able to lift and carry 15lbs, walk 1 mile, and enjoy being outside all day.*
